

PORTABLE CHASITSU TEA HOUSES AND MACHIA WAITING ROOMS

Daitetsu san, an extraordinarily skilled master carpenter created several chashitsu tea houses and machiai waiting rooms some 20 years ago. They must be inside a house or structure or covered in some way as they are not built to withstand the elements. Daitetsu san is now retired and is keen for the tea houses and waiting rooms to find homes.

The wood is 1,000 year old yakusugi and the workmanship is exquisite. Daitetsu san acquired the yakusugi decades ago and has a certificate to confirm its authenticity and that it was purchased through legal means.

Two of the tea houses have been completed and are kept in Daitetsu san's home. Other tea houses and waiting rooms are in a workshop and are nearly completed and the building can be finished by the younger carpenter who is now using Daitetsu san's workshop.
